AUDIO-VISUAL RESOURCES FOR CHAPTER 10

Body Language: Introduction to Nonverbal Communication.
In this clear, fast-paced introduction video, viewers learn how gestures mirror inner feelings and how posture sends messages. This video examines eye contact and the concepts of personal and public space. It also considers how these concepts differ across cultures. #UR478. Insight Media, 2162 Broadway, New York, NY 10024. 212-721-6316. http://www.insight-media.com

Building Parent Involvement: Elementary Schools.

Young children benefit when relationships between parents and teachers are a two-way process of collaboration and communication. In this video, you will learn ways to foster partnerships, including communication, support, learning, teaching one another, child advocacy, and decision-making. #870. National Association for the Education of Young Children, 1509 16th Street, NW, Washington, DC 20036. 1-800-424-2460. http://www.naeyc.org

I'm Telling: A Tattler's Tale.
This combination of video, audiocassette, teacher's guide, and workbooks helps the youngest students understand the difference between appropriate telling and inappropriate tattling. Sunburst Communications, Dept. PE27, 101 Castleton Street, PO Box 40, Pleasantville, NY 10570. 1-800-431-1934. http://www.sdteach.com/

Positive Discipline-Positive Children.
A basic and traditional approach to positive discipline, this video is geared to preschool and child care settings. Straightforward discussion and illustration approach. #1-57078-592-9. CEV Toll Free 1-800-922-9965. http://www.cevmultimedia.com

Preventing Classroom Discipline Problems.
Focusing on the diagnosis and prevention of classroom problems, this video presents practical methods for handling disruptive students that do not require revamping the entire school system. #UR826. Insight Media, 2162 Broadway, New York, NY 10024. 212-721-6316. http://www.insight-media.com